Raspberry season is officially over! Thanks for a great year.

We are now making our famous raspberry jam for our upcoming Saturday markets. We will have a limited supply, and it’s first come first served in the Farm Stand - so don’t dally!

Because of the limited amount of jars available, we are limiting customers to 2 jars each so we can "spread" the jam around. We appreciate your understanding.

Tori’s Blog Post

Read our newest blog post by Field Assistant Tori Dahl as she reflects on this past season.

Tori is on her way back home to Minnesota since the season is at it’s end. We are sorry to see her go -- she has truly been an amazing addition to Wright- Locke Farm. Come back and visit any time Tori!

Demo to Start Soon

Good news! All of our ducks are in a row and construction of the All Seasons Barn is slated to start soon. But first, we need to take down the decrepit yellow house. This could happen as early as the end of this week.

What better way to jump-start the holiday season by getting together with some other Animals to chase some turkeys around some beautiful trails?

The course will start at the Farm but will mostly wind its way through the remarkable singletrack of Whipple Hill, a 120-acre conservation featuring the highest point in historic Lexington. The course is 5k. This is a great chance to stretch the legs and burn some calories before beginning to hibernate after that big dinner just a few days later! You’ll have the option to run it once, or as many times as you care to over 6 hours.

There will be refreshments available at the Farm Stand to warm fingers and bellies after the run!

Flower Power!
Please make note that our main parking lot at 82 Ridge St may be inaccessible while construction is going on. We will have more information about the timeline soon and will update you as details develop!

Here are our most up-to-date plans for the All Seasons Barn. Check out the plans!

Farm Reel

Kim holding a gigantic purple-top turnip!

Dried flower wreaths, cornstalks, and a beautiful painting by Lynn Ricci at the Farm Stand.

Gorgeous fall flower arrangements from last week (we may have seen the last of them with the recent frosts!)

Thank you to our outstanding 'Flower Ladies' for such a wonderful year! Seen here are Flower Volunteers Mary Farrell, Courtney Davis (WLF Flower Staff), Rose Beecher, Lindy Brown, Ruth Trimarchi (WLF Manager of Flower Operations), Jackie Burchard, Lilian Cohen, Cheryl Curtin, Mary Lou Ferriero, and Kent Porter-Hamann.

We appreciate their beautiful and creative work, and look forward to a new season in 2020!

No Pumpkin Left Behind

WAIT. Don't throw them in the trash! Bring the to the Farm. We can compost your pumpkins (down at the concrete compost bays down the hill next to the pond) OR feed your pumpkins that are still in good shape to our goats. You can leave your "Goat" pumpkins on the stoop of the Squash House (the barn closest to the goat pen), or bring your moldy/squishy pumpkins straight to the compost pile.
