Carbon Has No Home Here

(unless it's sequestered in our soils & biomass)

In our latest blog post, Executive Director, Archie McIntyre gives an in depth update of where the Farm is with its plans for solar and other green energy initiatives.

All Seasons Barn Updates

We've been working diligently on our plans for the All Seasons Barn with our architects, Calling all Farm-Friend Cyclists!

Join Wright-Locke Farm and Slow Food Boston on Sunday September 8th for a Farm-to-Farm bike ride & farm supper!

We'll be exploring local farms in Winchester, Lexington, Lincoln, and Concord. Meet the farmers, tour the farms, and celebrate with a meal of locally sourced foods.

There will be a choice of 2 rides (20 miles or 40 miles) plus an optional farm supper at Wright-Locke Farm. Tickets for each event are $60 -- sign up for a ride and the supper and get a free drink from the bar!

"Source Bakery was opened in early 2019 by Julie White. We are a small, female-owned & operated business that believes in the power of community. It is our goal to work with local farmers & vendors whenever possible. We believe that this not only enhances our baked goods, but that when we support the community around us, we can all grow stronger together! Some of the vendors we work with include Four Star Farms, Wright-Locke Farm & Meadowbrook Farms, to name a few!"

The next time you come by the Farm, stop by the Stand and try these delicious, homemade goodies!

Thanks for a Fun Family Farm Night Season!

After 6 Thursday night concerts, Family Farm Night has wrapped up for the season. It's been fun everyone!

Climate Change at WLF through the Eyes of our Youth

Students in Wright-Locke Farm's summer program recently considered how things around them at the Farm are either impacted by climate change or illustrate ways in which the Farm is working to reduce the impacts of climate change and help Winchester to become more resilient to climate changes.

Jack Wright, one of the program teachers, writes: "Each child (3rd-5th grade) picked something on the farm and considered what it would be like to experience the world from the perspective of this chosen subject. Activities like this encourage us to think beyond ourselves, considering the environment around us and what other things (animate or not) experience."

The students' work is currently on display in the library. Check it out the next time you're there.

Farm Suppers in the 1827 Barn

Celebrate the harvest bounty at our Farm-to-Table Suppers. Join us for a casual weekday supper in the beautiful 1827 Barn while looking out on the farm fields.

Update: We've added a Farm Supper on Sunday September 8th after the Tour-de-Farms Bike Ride. Tickets open to all!

Dates

9/8 (special "bike ride" Supper date), 9/11, 9/18, 10/10, 10/17

FFN will be back next season, but don't be a stranger, come visit the Farm any day for a walk, picnic, to visit the farm stand, or to participate in a workshop.
